Her oldest daughter is in property management with her and her youngest daughter will be a starting freshman at Colorado State University. Karen Deklinski is a former Girl Scout originally from western Pennsylvania. Her fondest childhood memories are of she and her older sister camping and singing Girl Scout songs. Overseeing facilities in the department of Public Welfare and properties in state parks and forestry in the Department of Conservation and Natural Resources, gave her a great background to understanding the sensitivities of property management. Now a small business owner, Karen enjoys volunteering, reading and traveling. Karen and her husband live outside Harrisburg with their labradoodle, Bailey. They have two adult children; a son in the culinary field and a daughter, (also a former girl scout) married to a Marine, lives in Camp Lejeune, North Carolina.
